The first public-reception given by the Hon. Lady Carrington took place yesterday afternoon at Government House, and brought together quite a brilliant gathering of the elite of the city. Other ceremonials of a similar nature in years past have not been anything like equal in point of attendance, in the proportion of population, to that of yesterday, and none could have surpassed it in the cordiality with which the visitors were received, or the genuine pleasure derived by the latter from their introduction to Lord and Lady Carrington.

INGHAM.

(From our own correspondent)

January 27. [Wednesday]

Our wet season has begun in right earnest, and promises to be rather a heavy one. Since this day week 29-86in. of rain has fallen, giving an average of 4-27in. per day. The Herbert rose about 26ft. on Wednesday last, and has been rising and falling in rather an extraordinary manner ever since. The bridge at Gairloch Crossing has suffered some damage, owing to the accumulation of snags and driftwood, but is not of a serious nature. At present the river is overflowing its banks in two or three places near Halifax, and several big landslips have occurred at the same spot that the bank was carried away last year. The planters were all wishing very much for rain, and must be rejoiced to see it, even though they are getting an overdose now. The crops were, beginning to look very miserable and yellow, but the metamorphosis that has taken place within a week is wonderful, and the cane and maize present a most vigorous appearance, and are beautifully green. Although 1891 was a year of general depression, all the sugar-mills in this district, with the exception of one, did remarkably well, and the output of sugar for the season almost reached 10,000 tons. The Colonial Sugar Refining Company have decided to remove their mill, after one more crushing, to Fiji, unless they can dispose of it to the farmers, who are now supplying one third of the cane passed through the mill. The reason given for removal is not because the mill has not paid in the past or is not doing so at present, but to the fact that there is no certainty of obtaining reliable labour in the future. The farmers are working hand in hand, and are making every effort to get a mill to crush their cane in 1893 and afterwards, thereby insuring a market and warranting an extension of their areas under cultivation. Both the Macknade and Ripple Creek mills are adopting the Metayer principle, and next year will purchase some thousands of tons of cane.

Mr. R. M. Boyd, with his wife and family, left for a visit to England last Saturday [23 Jan 1892?]. He has spent ten years on the estate, and worked most arduously to bring it to its present state of perfection.

RECEPTIONS FOR BUSH BROTHERS DURING SYDNEY VISIT

Beginning on Wednesday end continuing till the middle of next week, is a series of drawing-room meetings arranged in their homes by various city women and attended by their friends and a number of members of the Bush Brotherhood of the Good Shepherd.

THREE addresses are given, pointing out the work of the Bush Brothers and stressing the need for funds for them to carry on their work of conveying spiritual help to settlers in the outlying parts of the State. On Wednesday afternoon the first meeting was held in the parish hall of St. John's Church, Balmain. According to the rector, Rev. A. G. Rix, "half the rectory furniture" was taken to the hall to transform it into a comfortable semblance of drawing-room, which was decorated with flowers from the beautiful garden at Drummoyne of Mrs. Mervyn Finlay, who acted as hostess for the afternoon. A big "at home" followed at the Allora Tea Rooms on the evening of the same day, and on Thursday Mrs. R. M. Boyd was hostess at another drawing-room meeting at her home at Wollstonecraft. Email from Elaine Roberts 22 Nov 2012.

I am reading Jeanie's little diaries, but they don't say much, just the number of hens' and duck eggs she collected each day, days she set hens and on how many eggs, and how much a dozen she got when she sold them and to whom. I have only one diary [of hers] written in Queensland - in 1897. There is very little of interest in it, lots of blank pages, but one mention of Tiny coming to call, and one that says "went over the way", meaning she went over to Mitch's house. I often wondered how she and Aunt Tattie got on. The fact that Mitch used to go and stay at "The Hollies" quite often but she never ever went there seems to indicate their relationship was not close. Yet Aunt Tattie was very fond of my father [ASB] - he stayed with her a lot when he was at Shore.
